Nitin Sawardekar : Assessment Centres: Identifying Potential and Developing Competency before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Assessment Centres: Identifying Potential and Developing Competency:

Today`s knowledge-driven organisations recognise the importance of managing competence strategically. To harness potential and develop competencies, a technique which organisations are increasingly resorting to ismdash;assessment centres. In this lucid book, the author covers in detail the evolution of the technique and takes the reader through the entire procedure of employing assessment centre in an organisation which includes: - The identification of competencies - Design parameters - Approaches - The conduct of assessment centres
