What a wealth of information the authors share!Everything that someone needs to know about building strong business relationships is covered in this book. The authors have clearly explained the power of joint venture relationships and outlined the correct approach of the "Joint Venture Process," giving sample letters and scripts that anyone can use.Important overlooked elements of joint venture partnerships are covered in detail. I followed the one simple tip that was explained on p. 51 and it worked!This book explains everything that both new and experienced business owners need to know about expanding their business, especially in these difficult financial times. This book is an absolute masterpiece!0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Levinson's is always a great source of infoBy Ted LeithartI like Levinson as he enhances my understanding of things Jay Abraham. Joint Ventures are the best way to grow your sales quickly and this book assists you in understanding how to put JVs together quickly and lucratively (is that a word?)1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Review of Guerrilla MarketingBy David GaleThis book covers an area of business that can be responsible for very fast growth - that of joint ventures. This is a must read for both established businesses and those just starting out. It covers the pitfalls to avoid and an overview with the 7 Step Guerrilla Marketing Plan. Then it goes into the meat of exactly how to go about doing joint ventures, finding partners and even sample scripts etc. I like the detail and the fact that it is written in an easy to understand way. The actual information provided is excellent and will help anyone to take their business to the next level in the fastest time possible by leveraging the power of joint ventures.

Triple your sales and quadruple your business in 90 days with joint venture partnerships.

About the AuthorJay Conrad Levinson Jay Conrad Levinson worked as a Counter Intelligence Agent in the American Spy Corp. Part of his job was finding spies and writing reports about his investigations. Since all his investigations were about shady people, he got very juicy information about very exciting James Bond-type people. But the part he liked best was writing the reports, so when he left the army, he went searching for a career where he could use his talents and follow his passion for writing. He worked for two small advertising agencies before he was picked up by Hugh Hefner to become the promotional copywriter for Playboy. Jay eventually worked for two of the world's most prestigious advertising agencies, Leo Burnett and J. Walter Thompson, before striking out on his own as a professional copywriter. Today, Jay has 57 books to his credit and is an international speaker and consultant.
